

A Letter from Your Newly Elected Steering Committee

As members for the newly elected Steering Committee, we want to express our gratitude to the South Palm Beach AA Community. It is an honor for us to serve in this capacity and we are looking forward to meeting our challenge head-on, with your support. Together we bring many years of sober living and professional experience that will be beneficial in accomplishing our mission.

We all love Intergroup and realize that in order for AA in South Palm Beach County to survive and grow, we need to practice the Love, Tolerance, Unity and Trust, which are part of living the AA life. We need to maintain the concept: spiritual principles before personalities. An Inventory of Intergroup has provided some guidelines for enhancing the way we conduct service. We have opportunities to grow spiritually from some of the suggestions made during this Inventory. We have been given a gift of willingness and humility. We are your humble servants!!!

The short term goals for the Steering Committee for the last quarter of 2012 will include:

- Financial Accountability
- Gratitude Dinner
- Volunteer Coordinator

The first goal has already begun and will be an on going process by our Treasurer. This process will run concurrently with the other tasks/goals.

After the Serenity Scramble in October, the focus will be on the Gratitude Dinner in November. The Gratitude dinner will need volunteers for many responsibilities. We will be providing information within the next few weeks identifying areas where volunteers can assist with specific tasks.

With the reduction in staff at the Intergroup office, efforts are being made to create a position as a Volunteer Coordinator to assist the Office Manager in her efforts of running the Intergroup Office. Specific job descriptions and qualifications are being developed for this position. The goal of this Coordinator will be to increase awareness and participation to support Intergroup.

In December, our focus will be on the Alcothon. These two events will occur on December 24th through the 25th and December 31st through January 1st, 2013. More information will be provided in the next month.

As you are aware, the next four months will be busy for Intergroup and will present many opportunities to support the AA community in South Palm Beach County.

Our agenda for the 1st quarter of 2013 is to focus on these areas:

- Training for Intergroup Reps
- Consider the relocation for the Intergroup Reps meeting and/or for training or holding workshops.
- Public Relations – Outreach to Groups to rebuild Group's confidence in Intergroup, where applicable
- Bylaw Amendments. Review the bylaws and benchmark with other Intergroups. If there is a need to amend the by-laws, we will bring the Motions to the Intergroup Representatives either during the first or second quarter of FY13.

We are asking for you to give your support both spiritually, financially and in service. In the spirit of our Responsibility Statement, we are committed to putting in as much time and effort as it takes to regain the trust of our community. We need your trust, which has to be earned. Let the challenge begin with Us. Together we can win. Until that is achieved, our prudent reserves will continue to be depleted.

Love and Service,

Ed T. – Chair
Sarah R. – Vice Chair
John S. – Treasurer
Caroline Q. – Secretary
Pam T. – Office Manager

THE STEPS & THE TRADITIONS

STEP 9 - "Made direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others."

TRADITION 9 - "A.A., as such, ought never be organized; but we may create service boards or committees directly responsible to those they serve."

Step 9 - I tried walking my talk, but I'm afraid I wound up limping it instead.

Me: Hey, thank you for meeting me for coffee.

Him: Sure, sure.

Awkward minute of silence

Me: So ... I believe I owe you an amends.

I wait a moment, half expecting some sort of response. All I get is more silence. I think to myself, "Well, maybe he's not going to make this any harder than it has to be, but obviously he's not going to make it any easier, either."

Me: When you and I ran into each other a couple of weeks ago, you know, I think ... you made a very neutral, even helpful statement, and I just kind of bit your head off. I'm sorry, that's ... that's not cool, I don't like to be that way. So I apologize. I want to make amends. If there's anything I can do to make that up to you ...

Him (sharply): That's what this is about? That's why you called me and asked me to meet you?

Me (taken aback): Well ... yes. I wanted to make a face-to-face...

Him: You don't think you could have just said this on the phone?

Me: I ... no. I mean, yes, I guess. But I just always think in terms of making amends, you know, face-to-face whenever ...

Him: You know, you're supposed to wear the program like a loose blanket. You don't have to be such a...

Me: Oh please. Who the hell came up with that loose blanket thing, anyway? I think people just say that when they want to make excuses for not doing the deal.

He looks at me sharply but I'm on a roll. Righteous indignation and guilt and grief and more resentment against this guy in a messy tangle in my gut.

Me: You know what else is a loose blanket? A freakin' shroud. Did you hear about ...

I name someone in AA who just died - possibly OD'd - earlier this week.

Him: Yeah. I did.

The cafe is by a fairly busy street. We're at a table on the sidewalk, and a truck roars by, silencing us both for a minute, like God ringing the bell signaling an end to Round 1 and sending us back to our neutral corners.

Him: You sponsored him for a while, didn't you.

Me: Yeah. Yeah, I did. At the beginning. For a while. Like, 3 years, actually.

Silence. We drink our coffee for another minute or two.

Me: What were you going to say? I don't have to be such a what?

Him: Nothing. Skip it.

Me (getting a little louder): No. What? Say it. Say what you were going to say.

Him (matching my escalating volume): No. Never mind. Skip it. Look. Fine, fine. Apology accepted.

I open my mouth to say something, and close it. He looks at me, looks away, takes a deep breath and stares into space. We drink our coffee for a couple of minutes. Someone we know from meetings walks by, waves. We wave back and smile as if we've been having a lovely chat.

Me: Great. Well. This has been fun.

Him: Right. Yeah.

Me: Let's do this again next time I snap at you.

Him: No, that's ok. Just call me and ... whatever. Leave a message or something.

Me: Right. Yeah. Whatever.

He stands up, puts his cell phone in his pocket, picks up his keys and his coffee. Hesitates for a moment. Sticks out his hand. I half stand up and shake it. He walks away.

I think to myself, "I swear to God, if I could do this stuff any better, I would." Then I sit there a bit longer, and laugh a little, because I realize if that's true for me then it has to be true for him, too.

I finish my coffee and leave, feeling, with that thought, somehow a little better about the whole thing.

Central Office Notes:

May 1st was moving day for the Central office into larger quarters on Lexington Avenue near Grand Central Terminal, a much more accessible spot to out-of-town visitors. We are already national in scope and certain to become worldwide. Hence this seems a most appropriate time to explain what the Central Office has been doing, and how well the Trustees and its staff have managed. Being somewhat responsible for the creation of the Central Office, I feel I have never made enough effort to let everyone know just how much it does.

Actually the Central Office belongs to all Groups everywhere; it is your good-will and financial support which makes it possible; it is one of your main contacts with the general public and it is one of your principal means of carrying the 12th Step of the A.A. program to untold thousands of alcoholic sick people who don't yet know they can get well. In matters pertaining to the office, the Trustees are your Service Committee; its Secretary is your National Secretary.

In the month of March alone, for example, the work turned out by the secretary and her three assistants (including some overtime) was as follows: 1 - They wrote 2,695 personal letters. Approximately 2,000 of these were answers to first inquiries of alcoholics and their families averaging 100 words each. About 400 letters were written to the groups, mostly group problems. The balance was miscellaneous. 2 - Six hundred telephone and telegraph messages. 3 - About 100 out-of-town A.A. members visited the office. 4 - Something like 400 bookkeeping entries. 5 - Over 5000 A.A. pamphlets and 672 A.A. books, about a ton of material, were wrapped and shipped. 6 - A detailed monthly report was made to the Trustees. 7 - In addition, the Secretary participated in several conferences on future publicity and spent a week on the road visiting six of the A.A. Groups with which she corresponds.

A small but very willing staff of four turned out this large volume of work. Our Central Office has nearly always been understaffed. Our condition right now is such that a good piece of publicity would throw us weeks behind on those vital first inquiries. We should have more help - perhaps two more typists before long.

About the offer of A.A. pins to the membership - those pins supposedly designed and approved by me! The offer was made by Royal Incentives, a perfectly reputable firm, which was sold a "bill of goods" by an alcoholic who has had a rather hectic A.A. career. Of course I knew nothing whatever of this deal. Royal Incentives, recognizing the mistake, is sending all groups a letter of explanation and apology

As ever, Bill.
